FRENCH PROVINCIAL KITCHENS

French Provincial kitchens are both timeless and stylish. The style rooted in the provinces of France, where craftsmen began fusing the popular 'town' designs of Paris and Lyon with more country touches that made the style unique. The original 'town' styles were toned down to fit in with the French country-size nature and lifestyle.

The painted finishes and intricate carvings, which are reminiscent of ornate furniture, have made the French Provincial kitchen style an enduring trend in interior design. This style often uses soft, subtle colours such as baby blues, antique whites, neutrals based on muted coffees, and off-whites. These colours are used to highlight the elaborate design elements of the unique style. French Provincial comes with three different door styles.
